

31-DAYS DAILY DEVOTIONAL

Volume 1

BUILD GENUINE
RELATIONSHIPS
BUT SET
BOUNDARIES

HANDLE
ENTITLEMENT
SYNDROME
BETTER

CREATE YOUR GARDEN! PRESERVE
NATURAL FOODS
AND HERBS WITH ALL YOUR MIGHT

CATCH THEM
YOUNG!
SATAN IS COMING TO THE CHILDREN'S SCHOOLS

WHY GOD GIVES TIME FOR REPENTANCE

DON'T BE
EMOTIONAL ABOUT
IT, END STUPIDITY,
AND RECOGNIZE PROPHETS FOR MONEY

Resistance by Vaccines

PRACTICE
SPIRITUAL
WARFARE

BE EASY BUT MIND
YOUR WORTH AND SPEAK WITH GRACE.

GMO FOODS,
MECHANICAL
HEALING AND BIOCHIP IN YOUR HEADS

CHECK YOUR GREED AND DESPERATION

DON'T BE CHEAP SO
DON'T MARRY FOR MONEY

OCCULT ARE EVERYWHERE
BE AWARE OF OCCULT
STRATIFICATION

PASTOR D. O. ADELUSI

Step into a transformative journey with "Resistance by Vaccines," a daily devotional designed to equip you with profound insights into navigating life's multifaceted challenges. This book promises to be your steadfast companion, offering daily teachings rooted in Biblical wisdom to resist negative behaviors, foster sensitivity towards environmental concerns, and discern political and economic policies. Delve into practical advice on marriage and child-raising, better and non-stressful relationships, stay informed about global, national, and local trends foretold in the Scriptures, all while deepening your understanding of timeless truths. Each day unfolds with a blend of spiritual guidance and practical application, empowering you to live with resilience and purpose in an ever-changing world.

~Pastor Dickson Olabiyi Adelusi

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 1

TOPIC: Wisdom for the Careless; See Beyond the Surface

Bible Reading

Proverbs 3:5-6 (NIV):

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding;
in all your ways submit to him,
and he will make your paths straight."

BODY:

Without the sun, moon, stars, or electric lights, the earth is a dark planet. In the spiritual realm of evil, it's even darker which affects how lives are shaped in the physical world. The brightest light and insight comes only from the Almighty Creator which makes the worship of the universe not a trusted practice; how sad that people now pray to the universe through chants and other means. In the realm of the spirit, trust and pray to only the Almighty God, even in the physical realm, trust him still.

Just like how the physical world is dark without light, people's hearts can be dark too when God is not in them, genuinely. If you don't have spiritual insight from the Creator, you won't understand your neighbor's intentions, just for example. You won't recognize a true friend from someone who might deceive you. You won't recognize who you talk to about your success thinking they are your friends exploring life like you but who are struggling in secret. Your success stories can force them to lie or pretend to keep up with you but hate that you mock their struggles in life and wish you bad.

In life, you only really understand yourself and your own plans. You don't know what others might have in store for you. Some might keep you in the dark for years, hiding their true intentions or waiting for a chance to harm you. Just as countries have spies and secret service agents to harm each other, there may be enemies around you who may be plotting against you or trying to bring you down without your knowledge. It's important to be cautious and discerning in a world where darkness can hide true intentions.

VACCINES

1. Seek Spiritual Guidance: Make time for prayer, cultivate a thinking head and spiritual practices that connect you with a higher wisdom of the true Almighty God. This helps illuminate your path and understand the intentions of others. Praying to God is a sign of humility; the proud and arrogant are convinced that they don't need God for anything, in fact, they agree not to believe in His existence.

2. Cultivate Discernment: Pay attention to your instincts and feelings about people and situations. Develop the ability to see beyond appearances and detect sincerity. Stay vigilant by the awareness of your surroundings and the dynamics of your relationships. Be cautious of people who may exploit your vulnerabilities or seek to harm you.

3. Build Genuine Relationships: Invest in relationships based on trust and mutual respect. Be cautious of those who only seem interested in your successes or who may have hidden agendas. Avoid boasting or exaggerating your achievements, as this can attract insincere people and breed mistrust.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 2

TOPIC: Overcoming Hastiness for a Fulfilling Life

Bible Reading

Proverbs 14:29 (NIV):

"Whoever is patient has great understanding, but one who is quick-tempered displays foolishness."

BODY:

Impulsive (or hasty) behavior can be like a whirlwind in your life. It's like rushing headlong into decisions without thinking them through, only to find yourself dealing with the painful aftermath later. Think about it: how many times have hasty decisions led to regrets? Words said in anger or haste that damaged relationships irreparably? Misused SWOT analysis, job or contract opportunities lost because you didn't take the time to consider all the options?

Financially, impulsivity (or hastiness) can be devastating. Buying things on a whim may feel good for the moment, but it often leads to debt and financial stress. The thrill of the purchase fades quickly, leaving you with bills to pay and a sense of unease; maybe a few sleepless nights for the fear of your creditors. Due to impulse, people often promise large amounts they cannot afford, leading to embarrassment in the end. Did you spend money impulsively due to social pressure, even money you were not supposed to touch?

Health-wise, impulsive choices can harm you too. Skipping exercise, indulging in unhealthy habits, or taking unnecessary risks can lead to long-term consequences for your well-being. In fact, there are many impulsive behaviors in the social environments that make the wanna-be persons indulge in activities that are threatening to their physical or spiritual health because they want to impress who exactly?

Living impulsively means surrendering control of your life to fleeting emotions and impulses. It's like driving without a map or momentarily losing a sense of your destination—you end up wherever the road takes you, not necessarily where you want to be.

VACCINES

1. Pause, Be Confident, Think and Decide with your Goals in Mind: Breaking free from impulsivity (or hasty behavior) starts with taking a moment to pause and reflect. Before acting, ask yourself: What are the consequences of this decision? Is it worth it in the long run? What are my long-term goals, and how does this fit into them? Choosing to be deliberate and thoughtful in your actions brings empowerment and clarity. It means making choices that align with your values and aspirations, rather than being driven by momentary desires.

2. Seek Counsel and Learn from Mistakes: Don't hesitate to seek advice from trusted friends, family, or mentors. They can provide valuable perspectives that you may not have considered in the heat of the moment. If you ever made a hasty decision that led to negative consequences, use it as a learning opportunity. Reflect on what went wrong and how you can approach similar situations differently now or in the future.

3. Practice Self-Control: Learn to manage your emotions and impulses. Practice techniques such as mindfulness or meditation to increase self-consciousness and control over your reactions. Practice until you master self-control in issues of life, particularly, with your actions.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 3

TOPIC: Goal-setting, Planning, and Execution OR Miracles?

Bible Reading

Luke 14:28-30 (NIV)

"Suppose one of you wants to build a tower.

Won't you first sit down and estimate the cost to see if you have enough money to complete it? For if you lay the foundation and are not able to finish it, everyone who sees it will ridicule you, saying, 'This person began to build and wasn't able to finish.'"

BODY:

Goal setting involves planning, breaking goals into manageable and immediately practical tasks, and maintaining the discipline to stick to your schedule. Spend time delving into your deepest desires to identify the predominant theme around which to shape your vision or goals. Guidance from God through your dreams or vision, if you have the Holy Spirit, or through the prophets, can simplify your search by directing you to your life's purpose.

Once you've determined your goal, conduct an honest assessment of your current status and available resources. Divide your goal or vision into practical tasks that logically bridge your present situation with your desired goal or future. These tasks act as stepping stones. For instance, if you need 1 million to start a business but currently have only 10 percent of that, one task could involve working for someone to save more or investing your current funds until they reach the required amount. Do one task everyday, week, month or every year that moves you closer to the goal or vision.

Setting goals is not just about envisioning a destination and rushing to start; this is why there are so many crashed lives, businesses and organizations out there. Most began with impulses and without concrete plan talk less of backup plans. I believe in the invincible hands of God and in His unquestionable interest in doing miracles but do not let the unseen fallen spirits manipulate you into delusion that God will plan or do it for you. Especially, for people who received divine guidance about their role or assignment in life. You've got work to do to get there! God will not do your work for you, don't let evil forces deceive or manipulate your understanding of God's un-shifting Order. You have to plan it and work it!

VACCINES

1. Thorough Planning: Begin by honestly evaluating your current capabilities and resources. Understand where you stand and what steps are necessary to bridge the gap between your present situation and your envisioned goal. Break down your goal into manageable tasks or "bridges" that connect your resources to your vision. You can plan your way out of poverty, sickness, anger, into a godly marriage and lots more.

2. Disciplined Execution: Once your plan is in place, commit to consistent action. Cultivate discipline to work on each task diligently according to a set schedule. Jesus' parable about building a tower highlights the importance of counting the cost and being prepared to see the journey through to completion (Luke 14:28-30, NIV). Stay focused on your goals and persevere through challenges.

3. Embrace Adaptability and Divine Guidance: Remain open to divine inspiration and guidance along the way. Be willing to adjust your plans as needed and seek spiritual discernment in decision-making. The love of God over you will be sufficient to see you through, but your workings are required. Speaking of divine guidance, be guided about manipulators and false prophets who are eyeing your business capital to steal it and promise you that miracle jets will get you to your goals.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 4

TOPIC: Balancing Faith with the Right Actions

Bible Reading

James 2:17 (NIV)

"In the same way, faith by itself, if it is not accompanied by action, is dead."

Proverbs 14:23

"All hard work brings a reward, but mere talk leads only to poverty."

BODY:

In our pursuit of happiness, spiritual growth, purpose fulfillment and gaining high standards of living, it's crucial to strike a balance between faith and action. Cease consuming extremist faith sermons where preachers emphasize extreme displays of faith in God's miracles over practical, yet godly steps and actions that can help achieve your desires or alleviate suffering.

Address your abusive neighbor or friend directly about their behavior instead of solely praying for God to warn them in a dream. Confront corrupt government officials openly instead of merely praying for God to intervene and lead the nation. Learn effective business practices rather than solely praying for divine customers or sudden success. By the way, I believe in God's miracles, but they don't happen everyday; what happens everyday, and in most church times, is that people live their normal lives and give glory to God.

Enhance your prayers by incorporating practical steps and reduce your reliance on sermons that promise prayer alone will solve all your problems. Avoid being deceived or manipulated into giving away all your resources, time, energy, and money with promises of heavenly rewards. Empower yourself by studying the Bible independently to recognize and avoid such traps. If reading the Bible feels challenging or tedious, consider downloading a Bible mobile app and regularly listening to it instead.

VACCINES

- 1. Take Responsibility and Initiative: Instead of waiting passively for divine intervention, take proactive steps to address challenges or pursue goals. Engage with situations and people constructively, seeking God's wisdom and guidance in your actions.
- 2. Learn and Develop Practical Skills: Equip yourself with practical knowledge and skills relevant to your goals or challenges. Whether it's learning how to manage finances, starting a business, or engaging with authorities, strive for competence and wisdom in your endeavors, and don't hide under the umbrella of waiting for God's miracles.
- 3. Strengthen Your Spiritual Foundation: Study the Bible independently to deepen your understanding of God's principles and discern false teachings. Use resources like Bible apps to engage with Scripture regularly, fostering a personal connection with God's word and guidance.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 5

TOPIC: Stop Using Wrong Scales and Double Standards!

Bible Reading

Proverbs 11:1 (NIV)

"The Lord detests dishonest scales, but accurate weights find favor with him."

Micah 6:11 (NIV)

"Shall I acquit someone with dishonest scales, with a bag of false weights?"

BODY:

Using dishonest scales, whether in business or personal interactions, runs counter to God's principles of justice and integrity. The Bible clearly condemns such practices, emphasizing the importance of honesty and fairness in all dealings. Beyond spiritual consequences, there are practical repercussions in the real world. Businesses that employ deceitful measures may initially gain, but they inevitably lose customer trust and loyalty. Once exposed, it becomes challenging to regain credibility and restore relationships.

Interestingly, people often criticize companies for diminishing product value, for example, juice-making companies reducing contents while maintaining or increasing prices. However, they fail to recognize their own tendencies towards sharp practices to increase gain or exploit someone who's blindly trusting them. Many individuals unknowingly engage in similar behaviors by delivering substandard services or using misleading measures in their own spheres of influence. This hypocrisy undermines personal integrity and erodes trust within communities. If you love your neighbors like the Lord demands, and you understand their economic struggles, why still cheat them?

Moreover, even people complains about government double standards in delivering justice and dividends, however, it's not angels but we the people who eventually gets into the government offices. The same scrutiny applied to external entities should prompt introspection regarding personal practices. Avoiding wrong scales and embracing consistent and just standards not only aligns with biblical teachings but also fosters stronger relationships and builds a more moral family, business and society where God can be in the center and dwell with us.

VACCINES

1. Cultivate Discipline and Integrity: Our experiences through the journey of life is uncertain under the conflicting forces of this universe, and filled with challenging moments of scarcity, which can tempt us to resort to deceitful practices, inconsistency, unjust scales, and unfair judgments for quick win or gain. These temptations are universal so don't be too hard on yourself, but our commitment to integrity sets us apart. As God lovers, we must resist all temptations for wrong scales through strong determination in discipline and integrity.

2. Practice Transparency: Maintain openness and honesty in all transactions and interactions, ensuring clarity and fairness at every opportunity.

3. Evaluate Standards Regularly: Continuously review personal and professional practices to align with ethical benchmarks and avoid unintentional discrepancies and cheating.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 6

TOPIC: Check Insecurity and Reliance on External Validation

Bible Reading

John 5:36-37 NIV

"I have testimony weightier than that of John. For the works that the Father has given me to finish—the very works that I am doing—testify that the Father has sent me. And the Father who sent me has himself testified concerning me."

[Interpretation: although John validate me, but the works and my Father's validation is greater, therefore, I don't thirst for, or rely on human validation]

Galatians 1:10 (NIV):

"Am I now trying to win the approval of human beings, or of God? Or am I trying to please people? If I were still trying to please people, I would not be a servant of Christ."

BODY:

Insecurity or inferiority complex is an unhealthy and seemingly uncontrollable behavior that can linger in anyone for a lifetime. It cuts across human hierarchies from grassroots to the corridors of power, whereby, the affected persons continuously seek validation from others and over-work themselves to keep their relevance. Do not mistake this as an excuse for laziness and arrogance of neglecting your roles in any organization. Especially, when they are your clear roles!

Dependency on others for validation can be like building your self-worth on a shaky foundation. When you constantly seek approval from those around you, your confidence becomes tied to their opinions. This can lead to insecurity and self-doubt because your value then hinges on external validation rather than your own understanding of your worth in the Almighty God.

Think about the times you've felt unsure or inadequate because someone didn't approve of your choices or actions. It's natural to want affirmation, but relying solely on external validation can be detrimental. It creates a cycle where you constantly seek approval, sometimes compromising your values or true self in the process.

True self-confidence comes from within. It's about recognizing your strengths, values, and accomplishments independent of what others think. When you validate yourself internally, you free yourself from the ups and downs of seeking approval from others. Cultivate a healthy self-esteem that isn't swayed by external opinions but rooted in your own sense of worth.

At the same time, beware of arrogance and pride which is not far from exaggerated self-worth and high looks; it is better to evaluate yourself lower than who you are when engaging with people but without losing the value within and while ensuring that you are not easily push-able by the will of others, and not yours.

Remember, seeking validation from others is natural to some extent, but it should complement—not define—your self-worth.

VACCINES

1. Self-Reflections and Affirmations: Take time to reflect on your values, strengths, and accomplishments. Acknowledge your worth independent of others' opinions. Counter negative self-talk with positive affirmations. Remind yourself of your abilities and worth regularly.

2. Set Boundaries and Seek Support: Establish healthy boundaries in relationships. Recognize when seeking validation from others is becoming overwhelming or compromising your self-esteem. Surround yourself with supportive people who value and encourage you for who you are. Seek counseling or therapy from a knowledgeable pastor, community elder or professional if you need help building self-confidence and reducing dependency on external validation.

3. Draw Validation from God's Love for You: Just as the words of Jesus in today's Bible reading, your self-worth should be from your understanding of God, especially, that the Almighty God sees you as his child, and not as a slave, is itself a priceless status for you to validate your worth from within. Additionally, learn to trust your own judgment and embrace your current status, your flaws and all, believing strongly that who you are today is not your final destination in God's calendar and you can only get better.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 7 - Word of Knowledge

Why God Gives Time for Repentance

When the Bible states that God desires sinners to repent rather than perish, but still warning that He would destroy sinners along with fallen angels at the end of days, some might erroneously perceive it as God speaking from two minds. How can a Holy God, who detests sin and vow to destroy wicked at last, not immediately eradicate sinners and purify the world? Many wonder why God allows the wicked to persist while good people suffer. Why can't God just destroy them now and bring peace to the world?

Why do corrupt politicians thrive? Why do oppressors remain healthy? Why do rapists, kidnappers, and terrorists still roam free? What an audacity to bomb a church even during a worship service to God? How that the disciples of Jesus dies in the hands of the wicked and the world did not end immediately? Shouldn't God simply remove the evil and preserve holiness in the world? What is He waiting for?

For those troubled by such thoughts, consider this: if you've ever engaged with misbehaving individuals and eventually influenced them positively, you may uncover the goodness within them that was previously hidden. And that turnaround can be really amazing!

Think of Saul, who transformed into the Apostle Paul. Imagine you're Saul's father, enduring years of his persecution and opposition to your beliefs and establishments, hoping he would repent and join your cause. Eventually, Saul does change, becoming Paul and dedicating himself to your service. To the extent that Paul, your child, gets to win so many souls than he could ever potentially destroy. Your patience and love, which restrained you from destroying him, are vindicated.

As a Pastor, witnessing such transformations in people I've encountered from evil to good is a profound marvel. It reminds me of God's perspective and why the conversion of a bad person to goodness is so remarkable. Every human has the capacity for both good and evil, so any wicked one you know today can truly become good and they are so passionate in their new goodness like hunger to prove their genuine transformation, gratitude and love to God. With the right influence, sermons not tricking people for their money but within God's wisdom and principles for transformation, and with time, people can change for the better—from bad to good, from good to great.

Consider if the wicked individuals were your children. Would you immediately destroy them or give them a chance to reflect, repent, and reform? We were all God's children (by creation) before falling under the sway of fallen angels. This is why terms like "salvation" and "redemption" are used in the Bible; they reflect God's desire to reclaim us as His own. This reclamation is out of the immense love of God our Father, who is not merely advertised as loving but indeed, He is the only true lover.

I once walked in step with the wicked and stood in the way that sinners take and sat in the company of mockers, just against Psalm 1. What if God did not give me long enough time and chance to repent, will I be writing to you today? So, I urge you to trust in God's timing. If you already do, refrain from condemning those who haven't yet seen the light. Instead, continue to engage with them, pray for them with God's love, and have faith that, in due course, God will separate the righteous from the wicked.

Don't underestimate God's commitment to justice. He will eventually separate the wheat from the chaff. Alongside God, I encourage you to allow time for repentance and change.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 8

TOPIC: Repair Your Unhealthy Boundaries

Bible Reading

Ephesians 5:15-16 (NIV):

"Be very careful, then, how you live
—not as unwise but as wise, making the most of every opportunity, ..."

2 Corinthians 9:7 (NIV):

"Each of you should give what you have decided in your heart to give,
not reluctantly or under compulsion, ..."

BODY:

Having difficulty in setting boundaries can be like living without fences around your personal space to control influx of those coming to use your space and occupy your time outside your will. It can lead to over-commitment, resentment, and even exploitation because others may take advantage of your inability to say no or to assert your limits. Think about times when you've felt overwhelmed or taken advantage of because you didn't set clear boundaries. It's natural to want to help others or to be accommodating, but without healthy boundaries, you risk sacrificing your own well-being and priorities.

How many commitments have you taken on from your church? How many more have you taken from your community? How many from your club or association? Did you forget that you still have responsibilities to fulfill for your family? And what about your duties at your workplace or means of earning? Of course, it is responsible and godly to take on roles in different spheres of life, but you must set boundaries or limits for each sphere so that you can free up time for yourself to actually plan out the dreams within you. Make time to serve yourself in pursuit of your dreams, to spend time with your loved ones, and to visit places like the beach, swimming pool, cinemas, or other recreational outdoor activities.

Don't feel too obligated to avoid outdoor activities once in a while; remember, we will play more in eternal paradise than work. However, how many people are willing to use you up like a squeezed orange and praise you only while you are still useful in serving their purpose? I, who write this to you, am a workaholic by addiction, but I still force out time for myself.

Healthy boundaries are essential for maintaining balanced relationships and work-life harmony. They involve knowing your limits, communicating them clearly, and respecting both your needs and the needs of others who want to delegate roles to you.

You don't have to feel quilt if you cannot take up extra roles or work to do; recognize how to say no and how to communicate your limits effectively, and how to assert your needs in a respectful manner. Setting boundaries isn't about being selfish or insensitive –it's about self-preservation and maintaining healthy relationships.

VACCINES

1. Honest Evaluation before Commitment: Take time to understand your own needs, values, and limits. Reflect on what is important to you in relationships and work. Remember to allocate time for activities that recharge you mentally, physically, and emotionally. Then, set limits to how many persons' or organizations' delegation you can accommodate within your free time or other resources. Establish boundaries around your time, energy, and resources. Be realistic about what you can and cannot take on.

2. Recognize Seasons: Do not always be sacrificial, all seasons are not for sacrifice. As there are times for planting and times for harvesting, so also there are times and seasons for sacrificing your boundaries for other people whereby it would be a righteous thing before the eyes of the Almighty God.

3. Learn to Say No: Practice saying no when necessary. It's okay to decline requests or commitments that don't align with your priorities or values. Be resolute about it and communicate it respectfully. Beware of the people who will be persuasive and resist their persuasion if the delegation or assignment would eat up your resources and fill you with resentment later. According to our Bible verse for today which partly reads as "love your neighbor as yourself". This bible verse makes you the reference point so that if you don't love yourself enough, you cannot love your neighbor enough!

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 9

TOPIC: Entitlement Syndrome

Bible Reading

Philippians 2:3-4 NIV

Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit, but in humility consider others better than yourselves. Each of you should look not only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others.

Later today, you can also read the Jesus' parable of the workers in the vineyard in Matthew 20:1-16 where some workers feel entitled to how another person should spend his or her money, time or resources for them

BODY:

Entitlement syndrome is a psychological condition characterized by a belief that one deserves special privileges or treatment without necessarily earning it through effort or merit. People with this mindset often exhibit behaviors that reflect a sense of entitlement. They may demand preferential treatment in various aspects of life, expecting recognition, praise, and rewards without commensurate achievement. For example, a parent who did not invest time and energy in raising their children and was never available to them suddenly expects to be taken care of by the same children in old age. This expectation reflects misplaced entitlement, as such treatment was not earned, and the person fails to understand that they do not inherently deserve it.

The attitude of expecting where you did not work breeds idleness by waiting for hard-workers to come and feed you simply because you are a gist partner. It also breeds ingratitude, coldness, resentments from the expectant-s, and strains the bonds of trust and mutual respect essential for healthy relationships. In neighborhoods, entitlement syndrome can lead to disputes over resources and services, creating divisions rather than fostering community spirit. Within families, it may manifest as a lack of appreciation for shared responsibilities or a sense of entitlement to receive support without giving reciprocation, weakening familial bonds. In workplaces, entitlement can breed resentment among colleagues who perceive unfair advantages or slack in effort from entitled individuals. Among friends, it fosters a culture of taking without giving back, eroding the foundation of genuine friendship. Overall, entitlement syndrome undermines the fabric of interpersonal connections by replacing reciprocity and mutual support with selfish expectations, ultimately hindering the growth of meaningful and harmonious relationships.

Entitlement can severely damage your relationship with God. This attitude can blind you to the reality that no sinner inherently deserves anything from God. Even the righteous work for their needs; how much more should sinners and the reckless strive for every blessing, including a simple sip of water? Despite this, God in His kindness still blesses them, yet they often perceive it as insufficient. Did they truly deserve even the small blessings they received? Since ingratitude displeases God, this entitlement mindset risks undermining His kindness towards them. It's crucial to rid yourself completely of any trace of entitlement syndrome today.

VACCINES

1. Practice Service and Giving to Others: To purge and immunize yourself against this syndrome, engage in acts of service, giving and volunteerism to understand how it feels when people show ungratefulness for what they did not deserve but which you did for them. This will help you hate the attitude in no time, purging you of it. Encourage those with this syndrome to do the same.

2. Handle People with Entitlement Syndrome Better: Through communication, let them know the consequences or what you consider the price for whatever they are expecting from you. You may also let them know why you have given whatever they expect from you to someone else so that you can awaken a consciousness in them that being a fellow club-member is not enough currency to expect hefty prizes from you.

3. Cultivate the Belief that You Deserve Nothing from Anyone: Even if you really deserve something based on your inputs or participation in anyone's success, do not expect any reward from them. This will protect you from emotional exhaustion if they fail to reward or recognize your inputs. You are also free to withdraw your inputs if you are not emotionally strong enough to continue to support them; feel free to react this way if you are hurt. This kind of belief would also boost gratitude in you because you were genuinely not expecting any reward or recognition. This will also save your relationships!

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 10

TOPIC: Proliferation of For-Money-Prophets in Churches and Christian Ministries

Bible Reading

Matthew 7:15 (NIV):

"Watch out for false prophets. They come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ferocious wolves."

2 Peter 2:1 (NIV):

"But there were also false prophets among the people, just as there will be false teachers among you. They will secretly introduce destructive heresies, even denying the sovereign Lord who bought them —bringing swift destruction on themselves."

BODY:

In recent times, there has been a concerning rise in the proliferation of false prophets and leaders within the realm of churches and Christian ministries. These individuals often present themselves as divine messengers or spiritual authorities, claiming to possess unique insights or powers. Their charismatic personalities and persuasive rhetoric can attract followers seeking spiritual guidance and community. However, behind their facade of righteousness lies deceit and manipulation. False prophets exploit the trust and vulnerability of their followers for personal gain, leading them astray from authentic faith and truth.

Such deceptive practices not only tarnish the reputation of genuine Christian ministries but also endanger the spiritual well-being of believers. The Bible warns against false prophets who distort God's Word and mislead others for their own selfish ambitions. Discernment is crucial in identifying these deceitful individuals and safeguarding the integrity of Christian communities.

It is essential for aspiring leaders and members of Christian ministries to exercise discernment and caution when encountering new spiritual leaders. By grounding themselves in biblical truth and seeking guidance from mature, trusted mentors within the faith, they can resist the allure of false prophets and uphold the purity of their ministry's mission.

VACCINES

1. Only the Words in the Bible can show you false Prophets: Regularly study and meditate on the Bible to develop a solid understanding of God's Word and discern truth from falsehood. I experimented a strategy and it works which I will share with you; I use audio Bible app and play it every time when I drive and it is much faster to play it than to read it and the words actually stick. I have now played the Book of John for nth times and I put all my target Bible books on repeat, just try it!

2. Kill Emotions, Maintain Clear Mind and Engage Discernment in Spirit: Cultivate a sensitive spirit to discern the motivations and character of leaders, looking for fruits of humility, integrity, and genuine love for God and His people. Evaluate their teachings, with zero emotions, scrutinize their teachings against biblical principles and sound doctrine for living now with wisdom, spiritual fruitfulness and eternal life. Be wary of messages that deviate from the core teachings of Christianity or emphasize personal gain over spiritual growth, especially, those that teaches all kinds of giving and how giving is the golden way to success.

3. Accountability and Transparency: There is nothing wrong if a church or christian ministry is transparent and gives account of their earnings and expenditures, promoting openness in financial practices, decision-making processes, and leadership structures. The financial accounting may not be made public to all members non-payroll church elders and executives. Money transfer to church or christian ministry should also be sent to an official account and not private accounts. You will pity many junior and assistant pastors if you know what the senior pastor is giving against the church earnings and how lavish the senior pastors spends church money.

TOPIC: Strength in Faith: Resisting Blackmail Against Christ-follower-ship

Bible Reading

Matthew 10:16 (NIV):

"I am sending you out like sheep among wolves. Therefore, be as shrewd as snakes and as innocent as doves."

BODY:

For example, neighbors piling dirt in front of your house and expecting you not to frown at it because you are a Christian; someone deliberately abusing an opportunity you gave and expecting you to offer another chance because you are fellow church members; someone who, upon learning you are a pastor, begins to infringe on your rights and expects you to respond with gentleness and remain quiet; and especially those who frequently accuse others by saying, "And you claim to be a Christian or a child of God."

In various contexts, there are individuals who attempt to exploit the kindness and principles of Christianity for personal gain. These manipulators may use emotional or psychological tactics to blackmail Christians, leveraging guilt, fear, or social pressure to achieve their objectives. They may exploit a Christian's desire to show compassion and forgiveness, twisting these virtues into tools for manipulation.

Blackmail against Christians can take various forms, from demanding financial contributions under false pretenses (adopted by some beggars and charity organizations) to coercing unethical favors in exchange for silence or compliance (like "just allow us do this malpractice and say nothing"). Such actions not only undermine the principles of Christian faith but also threaten the emotional and spiritual well-being of individuals targeted.

As followers of Christ, it is crucial to understand that kindness and compassion should never be manipulated or exploited. Jesus Himself taught about discernment and wisdom in dealing with others, urging His disciples to be "wise as serpents and innocent as doves" (Matthew 10:16, NIV). This wisdom includes recognizing and resisting attempts to misuse Christian values for dishonest or harmful purposes.

VACCINES

1. Set Boundaries Clearly and Educate: One effective way to counter emotional manipulation is to establish clear boundaries and communicate them assertively but respectfully. For instance, if neighbors are dumping dirt in front of your house and expecting you to tolerate it due to your faith, you can calmly but firmly explain that while you respect their perspective, it's important for you to maintain a clean environment for your property. Use "I" statements to assert your boundaries without attacking their behavior. This approach makes it clear that kindness and faith do not equate to allowing disrespect or inconvenience.

2. Assertive Communication and Educate: When someone abuses your kindness under the pretext of sharing the same church or religious beliefs, it's crucial to address the behavior directly. You can express your willingness to support fellow church members but also clarify that trust and respect must be mutual. For example, if someone misuses an opportunity you provided, calmly but firmly explain the impact of their actions and the need for accountability. Emphasize that being a Christian involves honesty, responsibility, and respect for others' boundaries.

3. Educate and Inform: Promoting awareness about manipulation tactics within your Christian community is vital for fostering a supportive environment and promoting healthy relationships. Initiate open discussions or small group studies to explore the dynamics of emotional manipulation and blackmail. Share practical examples to illustrate these tactics and their impact, encouraging members to learn how to recognize and respond assertively yet compassionately.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 12

TOPIC: Investigating Your Child's Education Against Heinous Agendas

Bible Reading

Deuteronomy 6:6-7 (NIV):

"These commandments that I give you today are to be on your hearts. Impress them on your children. Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up."

BODY:

To start with, later today, you can do your personal research about an organization called Educate and Celebrate who are assiduously working with, even elementary, schools. Don't panic yet, there are many unpopular organizations as such with the same, similar and different agenda to indoctrinate your children or wards into a culture directly opposite of God's principles in his laws.

In today's educational landscape, there is growing move about heinous agendas infiltrating curriculum and textbooks. These agendas may subtly promote ideologies or teachings that contradict or undermine Christian principles and values. Parents have a responsibility to remain vigilant and proactive in safeguarding their children's education from influences that oppose the teachings of the Holy God.

The education sector plays a pivotal role in shaping young minds and beliefs. While schools aim to impart knowledge and critical thinking skills, some curricula and materials may introduce concepts or perspectives that contradict biblical truths. It is essential for parents to actively investigate and monitor their children's educational experiences to ensure alignment with Christian values.

Visiting schools, reviewing curriculum materials, and engaging with teachers are proactive steps parents can take to uphold Christian principles in their children's education. By actively participating in their children's educational journey, parents can identify and address any concerns regarding teachings or materials that conflict with their faith.

VACCINES

1. Research, Review and Communicate: Conduct thorough research on the school's curriculum and textbooks. Review materials to ensure they align with biblical teachings and values. Maintain open communication with teachers and school administrators. Express concerns respectfully and seek clarification on any questionable content.

2. Activism and Advocacy: Actively participate in school activities, parent-teacher meetings, and curriculum reviews. Advocate for transparency and accountability in educational practices. Importantly, advocate for high morals in educational content, delivery and student relations. Please be ready to change your child's or ward's school on the grounds that the school is bent on promoting immoral agenda and encourage your church to establish high standards but affordable schools.

3. Teaching at Home with Prayer and Guidance: Supplement your child's education with teachings and discussions at home that reinforce Christian values and beliefs. Pray for wisdom, discernment and God's love to dwell in the hearts of your children and wards. Seek guidance from fellow Christian parents, pastors, or mentors on how to address educational challenges from a faith-based perspective.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 13

TOPIC: Embracing Natural Foods Amidst the GMO Agenda

Bible Reading

Genesis 2:8 (NIV):

"Now the Lord God had planted a garden in the east, in Eden; and there he put the man he had formed."

BODY:

In the near future, natural foods may become increasingly scarce as GMO (Genetically Modified Organism) foods dominate the market. GMO foods are often promoted as a means to boost profits exponentially, driven by greed rather than genuine concern for nutrition and health. This trend poses significant risks to consumers who may unknowingly ingest genetically altered foods whose long-term effects are still not fully understood.

As private companies, licensed by potentially corrupt governments, develop GMO seeds, it becomes crucial to scrutinize the source of your food. Understanding where your food comes from is essential for making informed choices that prioritize your health and well-being over corporate profit margins.

I advise taking proactive steps to secure natural seeds and cultivate your own garden. By purchasing natural seeds online or investing in land for gardening, you reclaim control over your food sources. This practice harkens back to biblical times when gardens were prized properties, symbolizing self-sufficiency and stewardship of God's creation. Consider the Garden of Naboth and the garden parable in John chapter 15 as examples that highlight the importance of cultivating and preserving natural resources.

Don't let them destroy you through food!

VACCINES

- 1. Create Your Garden: Create Your Garden: Invest in land or utilize available space to plant your garden for growing natural fruits and vegetables. Purchase natural, non-GMO seeds from reputable sources online or local suppliers committed to organic farming practices. This empowers you to control what goes into your food.
- 2. Educate Yourself and Support Organic Farmers: Keep yourself updated on GMO foods and their possible health effects. Consult trustworthy sources like health experts and scientific studies, but remain cautious of potential biases, as they might align with pro-GMO interests and spread biased information, assuming that you will trust them for being experts. Familiarize yourself with organic farming groups, and opt to buy from local farmers' markets or certified organic farms that emphasize natural farming practices and sustainable methods.
- 3. Advocate for Transparency: Support policies and initiatives that promote transparency in food labeling and consumer choice regarding GMOs. Advocate for stricter regulations on GMO foods to protect public health and environmental sustainability.

It is Time to Recognize Genuine Servants of God through Biblical Standards

For-money-pastors and false prophets use a variety of deceptive methods to manipulate people worldwide. They often exploit fears and uncertainties about the future, twisting religious texts to appear special and gain followers for selfish reason. Some even claim to perform miracles or possess supernatural powers, though these are usually mere illusions or staged miracles.

Others may resort to using diabolic powers for magic in church or crusade centers or plain psychological tricks to deceive and control their followers. They are adept at charismatic speaking, using emotional appeals to sway vulnerable individuals into following them. Financial exploitation is common, with false prophets manipulating religious teachings to solicit money from their followers, often under false pretenses of spiritual necessity.

Creating isolated communities is another tactic, where they exercise complete control over their followers' lives, isolating them from dissenting opinions. These communities often promise health, wealth, or success to those who comply with their demands, exploiting people's desires for a better life. Ultimately, false prophets need the people as their followers for power, societal relevance, political influence, wealth, or control over others.

In some disturbing cases, there are individuals who knowingly serve dark forces, promising wealth, fame, and power in exchange for leading others astray. This type's diabolism is not as simple as using charms but are members of satanic occults tasked to bring souls to the family of Satan. These false prophets operate within a demon-inspired framework, where their allegiance is clear and their goal is to ensnare as many souls as possible into deception. Their teachings often distort truths and exploit vulnerabilities, manipulating people's spiritual yearnings for Satan. These ones are aware of their service for Satan and should just have introduced themselves as prophets of Satan instead of God's.

To discern true prophets or servants of God from false ones, drawing benchmarks from major figures in the Holy Bible can provide clear guidance:

Firstly, true prophets consistently align their teachings and actions with the principles and teachings found in the Holy Bible. They do not contradict or distort the foundational truths presented in Scripture. Throughout the Bible, from Moses to the apostles, God's messengers have upheld His commands and teachings faithfully, without deviation or personal interpretation that contradicts God's Word.

Secondly, genuine servants of God exhibit the fruits of the Spirit in their lives. These fruits—love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control—are evident in their actions and interactions with others (Galatians 5:22-23). Their character reflects the transformative power of God's presence and aligns with the moral and ethical standards set forth in Scripture.

Moreover, true prophets demonstrate accuracy in their prophecies. Their messages are specific, come to pass as predicted, and are aligned with God's will and purposes. The Bible provides numerous examples of prophecies fulfilled through faithful servants like Isaiah, Jeremiah, and others, underscoring the reliability and authenticity of their divine calling.

Additionally, genuine servants of God lead lives characterized by holiness, integrity, and humility. They do not exploit their position for personal gain or manipulate others for selfish motives. Instead, they prioritize obedience to God's commands and demonstrate humility in serving others and glorifying God.

Furthermore, the testimony of others within the faith community corroborates their authenticity. Recognized spiritual leaders and fellow believers affirm their ministry and recognize the fruits of the Spirit and faithfulness to Scripture in their lives and teachings.

Consistency over time is also a hallmark of true prophets. They maintain steadfastness in their message and character, remaining faithful to God's Word and His purposes despite challenges or opposition. Their commitment to truth and righteousness endures throughout their ministry.

Lastly, true God's servants actively reject false teachings and practices that deviate from the foundational truths of Christianity. They stand firm against idolatry, immorality, deception, and any doctrines that compromise the purity and integrity of God's Word.

In conclusion, discerning true prophets involves prayerful consideration, diligent study of Scripture, seeking counsel from mature believers, and reliance on the guidance of the Holy Spirit. By applying these benchmarks drawn from the lives of major biblical prophets and servants of God, individuals can discern between authentic messengers of God and false prophets who seek to deceive and mislead others.

TOPIC: Choose Wisely: Mechanical vs. Natural Healing Approaches

Bible Reading

Genesis 1:29, God said: "Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for food." [for food only before the fall and now for healing. So, before you go to a false prophet for supernatural healing, have you asked experts about natural healing? African herbalists were been demonized by colonial powers and the herbalists were guilty of it because they protected the health industry by making people feel that it is a field reserved for deities and their priests. Why are Christians not becoming holistic herbalists?]

BODY:

In healthcare today, two primary approaches stand out: Mechanical Healing and Natural Healing. Mechanical Healing involves medical interventions such as surgeries, medications, and technological devices to diagnose and treat ailments. This approach emphasizes physical mechanisms and scientific advancements to promote recovery and manage health conditions effectively.

On the other hand, Natural Healing centers on the body's innate ability to heal itself using natural remedies, lifestyle adjustments, and holistic practices. Techniques like herbal medicine, dietary changes, exercise, acupuncture, and mindfulness are often employed. This approach prioritizes non-invasive methods and supports the body's natural healing processes.

Both approaches have their merits and are sometimes integrated to provide comprehensive care based on individual needs, health conditions, and personal preferences. The choice between mechanical and natural healing depends on factors such as the severity of the health issue, patient preferences, and the philosophy of healthcare providers.

It's important to be aware of certain practices among medical professionals who may favor the mechanical approach due to financial incentives. There are instances where they might recommend surgery for minor issues like indigestion, exaggerating conditions that could be addressed through lifestyle changes alone. This can lead patients towards prolonged medication regimens and treatments unnecessarily.

I advise caution in such situations. For instance, I recall a place where having a health insurance card seemed to prompt healthcare providers to recommend extensive treatments and medications, often under the guise of necessary medical care. It's crucial to remain vigilant and consider exploring natural healing methods more deeply through research and gaining comprehensive knowledge about alternative approaches.

VACCINES

1. Educate Yourself: Research and gain in-depth knowledge about both mechanical and natural healing approaches. Understand their benefits, risks, and appropriateness for different health conditions.

2. Seek Second Opinions and Embrace Holistic Care: Don't hesitate to seek second opinions from healthcare providers or specialists of both sides before undergoing invasive procedures or starting long-term medications. Incorporate holistic practices into your lifestyle, such as mindfulness, balanced nutrition, regular exercise, and stress management techniques.

3. Promote Open Communication and Be Vigilant Against Over-medicalization: Maintain open communication with healthcare providers. Discuss your preferences for treatment options, including your interest in exploring natural healing methods. Be cautious of healthcare practices that prioritize profit over patient well-being. Question recommendations for unnecessary surgeries or excessive medications, especially when simpler lifestyle changes could suffice.

A Call to Support Our Mission

In these pivotal times, we are witnessing the rapid normalization of end-time signs spreading forcefully and diplomatically across the world. It is imperative that we actively prepare and equip as many people as possible with the truth of God's word to resist antichrist and satanic agenda. As societal norms shift towards bold and celebrated un-Godliness, the need for spiritual resistance becomes increasingly urgent. Our daily devotional is dedicated to awakening individuals to the reality of the times and fortifying their faith. And for as many to understand the prophecies that are unfolding and what is to come.

If you received this devotional through any media advertisement, I urge you to support our mission. Your financial contribution is crucial. Donations can be made via PayPal, with a suggested minimum of $10 USD to cover banking and card charges. Your support will amplify our outreach efforts, enabling us to reach more people and undertake essential ministerial work. Once we reach a significant number of people, we shall begin to unravel more mysteries in the global trends.

If you are unable to contribute financially, you can still make a significant impact by sharing this devotional with others. By working together, we can spread the message and help many prepare for what lies ahead. Thank you for your support and prayers. May God bless us all and keep our names written in the Book of Life. Amen.

If interested, click this link <https://dicksonadelusi.com/support/>

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 16

TOPIC: Vigilance Against Satanic People

Bible Reading

1 Peter 5:8

Be vigilant and of sober mind. [Humanity, your] Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour.

BODY:

There exists a sect across the world who are satanic people; the Satan lovers and servants! Their allegiance to Satan is driven solely by greed—a desire for power, continuous control, position, political office, fame in the entertainment industry, technological monopoly, market protection, and other materialistic gains. Similar to the temptation faced by Eve and Adam in the Garden of Eden, the allure for Satan's people is the promise of being better, greater, and god-like.

These individuals, consumed by greed, have forsaken ethical principles and moral integrity for personal gain. Satan capitalizes on their desires, teaching them that life revolves around exchange—nothing comes without a price. This sect promotes doctrines of greed, lesser evil for greater good, collateral damage, unavoidable destruction, and the acceptance of a morally questionable price for everything.

If you've witnessed the callousness, coldness, and wickedness of those in positions of power and influence, and their quietness or ordinary empathetic talks instead of concrete action in the face of ravaging societal ills, it's likely because they adhere to the same doctrines of Satan under different guises. Whether through their overwhelmingly supported inhumane and immoral policies, systems, actions, music, movies, market conditions, healthcare agendas, or internet surveillance, their overarching goal is to encroach on privacy, moral rights, human rights, and control of humans into satanic culture, a divided assignment from their master; the price for their personal desires.

VACCINES

- 1. Educate Yourself and Remain Vigilant: Educate yourself and remain hyper-vigilant against their influence, yes this is one of the keys to resistance. Stay informed about their tactics, agendas, and the impact of their actions on a moral and holistic society and individuals. Stay alert to signs of manipulation, coercion, and unethical practices. Question motives and seek transparency. Check your own greed and vulnerabilities in the desperation to get your desires so that they don't easily make you join them.
- 2. Associate Wisely and Speak up: Surround yourself with individuals who uphold moral values and integrity. Seek out communities and leaders who prioritize righteousness and justice. Speak out against injustice, exploitation, and the misuse of power in no matter how small the community maybe, even in your neighborhood. Support initiatives that promote transparency, accountability, and morality. Start or support initiatives that promotes godly character in the truest sense of integrity.
- 3. Spiritual Discernment: Deepen your understanding of Scripture and seek guidance from true disciples of Jesus. Discern between genuine faith-based teachings and deceptive doctrines. Read the Bible daily or permit me to say play the audio bible everyday, the Word sticks and it helps build moral and spiritual resistance.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 17

TOPIC: Be Aware of Occult Stratification

Bible Reading

Ephesians 6:12 (NIV):

"For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms."

BODY:

Be aware that the occult is stratified into global-continental-subcontinental-national-regional-cities and towns. In the strict sense, there are occult people in your neighborhood. As the stratum goes up, they become more organized and sophisticated. So, in your neighborhood, towns or even in less sophisticated cities, these occult people can be quite unorganized and less efficient. However, they are really strong at the state or regional level, going upwards. They have competitions among themselves, so that even though they serve the same master, their supreme Lord Satan, there still exists different houses. There are some houses who are naïve and not aware that Satan is their supreme lord.

Why this wake up call? To encourage you to tighten the spiritual security of your surrounding and locality. Do not try to stop the global occult names as they are out of your league and there are God's generals at that level, placed there by God to checkmate them. Be concerned and checkmate the pockets of evil people around you with fervent prayers and advocacy for righteousness in all things. The representatives of this satanic people at the really local level also claim to be the territorial powers that be. Present in streets, your very local church, your children's school, at your local markets and other places within your daily walks.

You don't have to be afraid because with God in you, they cannot overcome you but be vigilant of their wiles so that they don't ruin your relationship with God through sin, get you weakened and then strike. Even the pastors of their churches are busy telling people to lower their guards that God is no longer displeased with sins. They preach grace as if it removes the consequences for sin. They preach about annulment of the laws of God and some of their pastors even go extra miles to condemn warfare prayer because they claim Jesus said it is finished and the only weapon left for their spiritual warfare is David's dance, misinterpreted into jumping and dances like in madness.

VACCINES

1. Live as Examples of Goodness: Knowing God is not your birthright, you received the salvation from God and so can everyone in your locality receive it and become God's own like you. By consistently living according to God's values and principles, such as love, kindness, and compassion, you can positively influence your neighbors. This involves actively demonstrating care and concern for others, helping those in need, and being a source of positivity in the community, and stop your bad behavior to your neighbors.

2. Practicing Prayer and Spiritual Warfare: As Christ-followers, we believe in the power of prayer and spiritual warfare against evil forces. Instead of condemning or judging others, we can engage in fervent prayer for our neighborhood and its residents. This can include praying for protection from negative influences, praying for wisdom and discernment to navigate challenging situations, and praying for the transformation of hearts and minds towards righteousness. Prayers against the influence of false doctrines from satanic prophets and pastors for the people around you.

3. Engaging in Community Outreach and Support: Christians can resist evil by actively engaging in community outreach and support initiatives. This involves starting or participating in local projects that promote social justice, equality, and the well-being of all community members, in order to gain that territory for righteousness. By fostering unity and cooperation within the neighborhood, you can create a strong community bond that stands against the satanic and destructive influences from becoming a norm.

DAY 18

TOPIC: Work on Your Potential Greed

Bible Reading

Proverbs 15:27 (NIV):

"The greedy bring ruin to their households, but the one who hates bribes will live."

Proverbs 11:24-25 (NIV):

"One person gives freely, yet gains even more;
another withholds unduly, but comes to poverty.
A generous person will prosper; whoever refreshes others will be refreshed."

BODY:

Greed surpasses mere covetousness by driving people beyond mere desire into active pursuit, pushing them to take actions or make commitments to satisfy their insatiable appetite. Unlike mere longing, greed is characterized by an unquenchable thirst for more, often without regard for the well-being or interests of others. Those consumed by greed are often already well-provided for but seek excess beyond what is fair or necessary.

Greed exerts a pervasive negative influence across society, corroding bonds within family, through distrust and conflict, when you become insensitively selfish and want more or all for yourself, it fracture friendships with manipulative behaviors, and undermining community well-being by prioritizing selfish profit over residents' needs. The greed of local kings and chiefs, federal and state government officials, international oil companies, and foreign governments is the cause of the economic and environmental crisis in the Niger-Delta region of Nigeria. In politics, it breeds corruption and favors unending personal gain over public service and benefits, while in business, it spawns unethical practices like fraud and exploitation. At the governmental level, unchecked greed removes values, increases distrust in government institutions, and perpetuates self-serving agendas that weaken social cohesion and equity within society at large.

If you were offered a position in government or business leadership today, could you resist greed? Before answering hastily, reflect on your current actions. How do you handle family assets like land and business? Are you fair in sharing resources with others, guided by Godly principles of justice? Many pray for Godly leaders in government—could you be chosen for them by God? In business, do you set fair prices or exploit market conditions for excessive profit? These questions challenge us to examine our own integrity and commitment to moral conduct in our little leadership roles.

Vaccines

1. Cultivate Contentment: Most of us focus on what we can gain more which also reflects in our relationship with God. We just keep wanting more from God when we don't deserve it, how much more if we have opportunity to take it by force from our neighbors. Practice gratitude and focus on what you have rather than what you lack. This mindset shift can help reduce the desire for more material possessions or wealth at the detriment of others.

2. Set Moral Standards as your Core Values in Life: Establish clear moral guidelines for yourself and your actions. Define what constitutes fair and just behavior in business dealings, personal finances, and interactions with others.

3. Practice Generosity: Actively engage in acts of generosity and sharing. Whether through charitable donations, volunteering time, or helping others in need, practicing generosity can counteract selfish impulses and increase a sense of community and goodwill in you.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 19

TOPIC: Helping Others out of any Wrong Path

Bible Reading

Matthew 7:1-2 (NIV)

"Do not judge, or you too will be judged. For in the same way you judge others, you will be judged, and with the measure you use, it will be measured to you."

BODY:

In our journeys through life, it's easy to encounter people who seem to have strayed onto a path we deem harmful, misguided or outside God's approval. Instead of passing judgment, however, wisdom calls us to offer understanding, guidance, and support rooted in compassion and in the Scripture. Many find themselves ensnared in destructive social associations and spiritual alignment, including in the occult and religion, driven by fleeting desires, false promises of purpose fulfillment, and those plainly deceived or misled. As Christ-followers, our role extends beyond condemnation; it encompasses a responsibility to uplift and guide, drawing from the light of our faith and knowledge in Christ.

The teachings of Jesus remind us, "Do not judge, or you too will be judged" (Matthew 7:1, NIV), emphasizing the importance of humility and empathy in our interactions. Rather than condemning, we are called to educate and support, offering a lifeline of hope and wisdom to those ensnared in harmful associations and beliefs. Whether driven by exuberance, greed, ignorance or the allure of worldly vanities, our approach should be one of compassion and understanding, seeking to illuminate their paths to fulfillment and spiritual well-being. Ultimately and without coercion, leading them to the love of the Almighty God revealed in Jesus the Christ.

The antagonist of God and the devils' team don't want you to use this method to be fruitful for God. He would prefer you go the aggressive way to judge, condemn and be at loggerheads with those you are suppose to enlighten for God. You must resist all temptations and show great understanding with people with genuine interest to help them realign with God.

VACCINES

1. Listen with Empathy: Approach conversations with a genuine desire to understand their perspectives and struggles, not to condemn or flex the superiority of your path. Empathetic listening builds trust and opens avenues for meaningful dialogue.

2. Share Your Faith and Wisdom: Offer insights from your spiritual journey and the teachings of your faith. Show how your listening and practicing the way of God in the Holy Bible has brought you clarity, peace, and purpose.

3. Pray for Guidance and Transformation: Lift them up in prayer, asking for divine intervention and guidance. Pray for clarity of thought, strength to resist temptation, and openness to receive spiritual truths. Lead them to trusted prayer community for special prayer for deliverance and spiritual rehabilitation.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 20

TOPIC: Skepticism is Good; Don't Trust Easily to Safeguard Your Life from Shocks

Bible Reading

Proverbs 4:23 (NIV)

"Above all else, guard your heart, for everything you do flows from it."

[anyone who can break your heart, can almost break your life]

BODY:

In the journey of life, embracing a healthy skepticism can be a protective shield against unexpected shocks and betrayals. It's a reality check that not everyone who crosses our path has honorable intentions, especially in financial dealings and personal relationships. Developing discernment and a philosophical approach to navigate these complexities becomes paramount.

Jesus exemplified this wisdom in his interactions with people. Despite performing miracles and feeding thousands, he maintained a guarded approach when individuals sought to exploit him for personal gain, particularly, when the people wanted to make Jesus become King but he avoided their flinching allegiance. Human beings who sang Hosanna to Jesus and by the following week sang crucify him! This underscores the importance of not easily trusting others' motives solely based on superficial appearances or temporary kindness.

See John 2:23-25

23 Now while he (Jesus) was in Jerusalem at the Passover Festival, many people saw the signs he was performing and believed in his name. 24 But Jesus would not entrust himself to them, for he knew all people. 25 He did not need any testimony about mankind, for he knew what was in each person.

While it's natural to appreciate recognition and support from people, it's equally crucial to maintain emotional independence. Relying too heavily on people or their praise and validation can leave one vulnerable to disappointment and exploitation. Building a foundation of self-awareness deeply rooted relationship with God ensures resilience in the face of shifting circumstances and people's changing allegiances.

VACCINES

1. Evaluate Intentions Carefully: Take time to observe and analyze people's actions over time, rather than relying on initial impressions. Look for consistency between words and deeds to assess true intentions. Verify promises and claims through independent research or consultation with trusted advisors before making commitments.

2. Set Boundaries and Strengthen Emotional Resilience: Clearly define boundaries in your relationships and business dealings. Cultivate inner strength by nurturing hobbies, relationships, and personal growth

3. Build the Most Trusted Relationship in the World: With deeply rooted relationship with God through his only begotten son, Jesus, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, hello, you are too many miles away from heart breaks caused by humans. The illumination of God's light in you would activate spiritual sense organs in you to spot a wrong person or character and your role is to handle them brilliantly or avoid them. Besides, your heart will be in God's hands and no one can dare break it, if you play your role with God.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 21 - Word of Knowledge

I saw a dream about what will happen to nations and indigenous people on their ancestral lands, orchestrated by a people

In our world where power knows no bounds, there is an enigmatic but faceless organization out there which operates in the shadows, quietly and meticulously executing a grand plan to gain control over all lands and waters on the planet. Their strategy is multifaceted, requiring patience, cunning, and unwavering determination.

Within the wily web of this faceless organization's influence lies a hidden truth – it is not just an organization, but a clandestine network of power brokers, influencers, and elites from every corner of the globe. This faceless organization operates under various guises, presenting itself as a collection of seemingly independent organizations, each catering to different desires and ambitions of its members.

At the heart of this faceless organization's allure is its exclusivity. Membership of most of its minion organizations is by invitation only, and to be invited is considered the pinnacle of success, a mark of prestige and power. Presidents, kings, CEOs, and celebrities alike vie for the coveted invitation, eager to join the ranks of the world's most influential individuals.

Yet, beneath the facade of diversity and independence, all roads lead back to the faceless organization. Whether one seeks power, wealth, fame, or other desires, there is a disguised organization within its network tailored to fulfill those aspirations. From political alliances to financial consortium, from media conglomerates to technological behemoths, each entity serves the overarching goal of this faceless organization – global dominance.

To justify their ambitions on one hand, this organization has shamelessly distorted the sacred scriptures of the God's chosen people, the Jews, and Christians' sacred texts, derived from the Jews. They have twisted the teachings and prophecies to serve their own interests, claiming divine mandate for their conquest.

My dream in the night began by seeing that armored tanks and warplanes icons from a number of countries were added to the flag of Israel, a symbol of the God's chosen people; the interpretation of this part of the dream of course symbolize the warped interpretation of what the faceless organization believe the scriptures truly represent – a call for wily and militaristic expansion and domination.

As this faceless organization's influence grows, I saw in the dream that they implement a system where indigenous peoples and existing landowners are required to apply for permits to inhabit or utilize their land. These permits come at a cost, with taxes and fees levied by the global organization. They aim to take over indigenous lands worldwide through hidden policies, promoted by corrupt local politicians. While on the surface, these measures may seem harmless and simple, they ultimately serve to tighten the organization's grip on the world's resources and populations. Sadly, in my dream, it caught many peoples and leaders unawares and it was too late so that leaders who already committed to them found it difficult to decouple.

For emphasis sake, beneath the guise of scientific and modern progress, this organization cloaks its spiritual and diabolical nature, weaving a narrative of innovation and enlightenment to deceive both the gullible and the careless. Behind closed doors, they invoke ancient rituals and dark arts, harnessing forbidden knowledge to further their agenda of control and domination. Yet, in the public eye, through its minion organizations, presents itself as a beacon of rationality and progress, leveraging technology and scientific advancements to bolster its image as a benevolent force for change. This duality serves as a potent tool in their arsenal, allowing them to manipulate perceptions and obscure their true intentions while advancing their sinister designs unabated.

Sadly, this faceless organization is not a country and no country was spared from its desire but some countries are favorites.

I saw further in my dream, resistance arises from various quarters – indigenous communities fighting to protect their ancestral lands, grassroots movements rallying against corporate exploitation, and governments grappling with the encroachment of this organization's influence on their sovereignty.

I am waking you up as I woke up from this dream and asking you to prepare before you are caught unawares. In a world where this organization's dark influence spreads like a shroud, there is a need for this clarion call for champions of righteousness to stand against the tide of tyranny. Amidst the shadows of manipulation and deceit, it becomes evident that God's chosen people, in any capacity, carry a profound responsibility to champion the body of resistance and halt the relentless march of this organization.

Watch out for any of your government policies and show no tolerance for anything looking satanic or with long term agenda to take away your rights to your land or denying you the dignity of being the outright owner of your land. In fact, all citizens should begin to engage their lawmakers to revisit and review the land use act!

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 22

TOPIC: Be Easy but Mind Your Worth and Speak with Grace

Bible Reading

Proverbs 17:28 (NIV).

"Even fools are thought as wise if they keep silent, and discerning if they hold their tongues."

Proverbs 15:2 (NIV).

"The tongue of the wise adorns knowledge, but the mouth of the fool gushes folly."

BODY:

Maintaining dignity and wisdom in public interactions is a virtue often overlooked in today's culture of constant stimulation. It's crucial to resist the pressure to entertain or fill silences, wherever you find yourself, with unnecessary chatter. Instead, embracing moments of silence or reflective listening can demonstrate respect for oneself and others.

The Bible offers timeless wisdom on the power of words. It advises that even in casual settings, speaking with wisdom can enrich conversations and foster genuine connections. Whether sharing insights or humor, the quality of speech matters more than its frequency. Wise speech can be as impactful in light-hearted moments as in serious discussions.

One should not fear being perceived as dull or uninteresting for choosing natural, thoughtful conversation over superficial banter. In fact, those who speak with wisdom often earn respect and admiration for their discernment and sincerity. It's a reminder that every word spoken has the potential to influence others positively or negatively, making conscious speech a valuable asset in social settings.

VACCINES

- 1. Embrace Silence and Practice Mindful Speaking: Learn to appreciate moments of quietude and use them to observe and listen attentively. Develop the habit of thinking before speaking, ensuring that every word reflects wisdom and respect for others. No matter what, don't say stupid things even if it is meant for a joke.
- 2. Resist Conversational and Bonding Pressure: Avoid succumbing to pressure to bond with others at the cost of losing your self-worth and value. Such efforts can leave you feeling hollow and as though something has been taken from you. In fact, it might even come across as unnatural to those you're trying to impress with mere words.
- 3. Isaiah 30:15 NIV: This is what the Sovereign LORD, the Holy One of Israel, says: "In repentance and rest is your salvation; and in quietness and trust is your strength."

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 23

TOPIC: Check Your Inner Quality and Expression

Bible Reading

Proverbs 15:28 (NIV)

"The heart of the righteous weighs its answers, but the mouth of the wicked gushes evil."

Ephesians 4:29 (NIV)

"Do not let any unwholesome talk come out of your mouths, but only what is helpful for building others up according to their needs, that it may benefit those who listen."

BODY:

Speaking with quality in public settings requires a harmonious balance between inner substance and effective expression. Many struggle with either having valuable insights but faltering in delivery or having eloquence but lacking meaningful depth. Both scenarios can hinder effective communication and personal growth. On the extreme, it can cause ridicule, disrespectful esteem or aggravate inferiority complex.

For those who possess valuable knowledge but struggle with expression, investing in the practice and honing of communication skills in private is a good start. Overcoming timidity in expression requires intentional effort. Practicing speaking privately in front of a mirror or expressing your insights with trusted family and friends can boost confidence. Developing a positive self-image and recognizing the inherent value of one's thoughts encourages boldness in public speaking. It's vital to remember that you possess unique insights and experiences worth sharing. Fear of judgment should not overshadow the value of your contributions.

Conversely, individuals who are naturally expressive but lack substantial content should focus on inner development. Building a foundation of knowledge and wisdom through reading, study, and contemplation is essential. This enriches their perspectives and equips them to contribute meaningfully in conversations. If you are too expressive and always being the talker, ask the people close to you enough to share in your glory and shame whether or not, you are already embarrassing them with your outputs. If they are courageous enough to tell you that you are not making enough sense, kindly work on your inner self through quality knowledge gathering to boost wisdom.

VACCINES

- 1. Invest in Continuous Learning: Dedicate time to acquiring knowledge and expanding your understanding of various subjects.
- 2. Practice Articulation: Develop communication skills through regular practice, both privately and in controlled public settings.
- 3. Cultivate Confidence: Build self-assurance by affirming your worth and capabilities, recognizing the value of your insights and contributions.

TOPIC: Don't Defend Bad Products and Questionable Characters

Bible Reading

Proverbs 17:15 (NIV).

"Acquitting the guilty and condemning the innocent
– the Lord detests them both."

Proverbs 13:20 (NIV).

"Walk with the wise and become wise, for a companion of fools suffers harm."

BODY:

Defending a bad product, idea, or person can severely tarnish one's integrity and reputation, regardless of the reasons behind such defense. In both personal and professional realms, attempting to justify or cover up flaws only invites greater scrutiny and damages trust.

I once experienced a situation where a colleague attempted to bring in acquaintances into our project, promising they would contribute positively. Instead, each new addition brought fresh complications and challenges. This highlighted the folly of defending or endorsing something that inherently lacks quality or ethical standing based on relationship or other non compatible and incoherent reasons.

Advertising and propaganda may temporarily obscure deficiencies, but true character and product quality will eventually surface. Like smoke, negative behaviors and shortcomings cannot be concealed indefinitely. As individuals of integrity in God, we must resist the temptation to defend what is wrong for the sake of personal connections or affiliations. Such actions not only compromise our position as God's children but also align us with dishonest practices.

This principle holds particularly true for leaders in any capacity—whether in business, community, or religious settings. Associating with individuals of questionable character risks tarnishing your own reputation and credibility. Leaders should prioritize associations with those who uphold similar values and standards, as these relationships reflect their leadership ethos and influence. Else, the leaders unknowingly expose their followers to exploring the wrong influence by your endorsement.

VACCINES

- 1. Maintain Ethical Standards: Uphold principles of honesty and quality in all decisions and associations, refusing to compromise integrity for personal gain.
- 2. Choose Associations Wisely: Surround yourself with individuals of integrity and wisdom, as they reflect and reinforce your own leadership values.
- 3. Educate and Lead by Example: Foster a culture of transparency and accountability within your sphere of influence, demonstrating through actions the importance of ethical conduct.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 25

TOPIC: The Price of Help Outside of God

Bible Reading

Psalm 121:2-3 (NIV)

"My help comes from the Lord, the Maker of heaven and earth.
He will not let your foot slip—he who watches over you will not slumber."

Isaiah 41:10 (NIV)

"So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God.
I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand."

BODY:

No one can navigate life entirely alone; we all need assistance. Without help, the journey becomes arduous and we may not go far without help. Assistance can simplify life, accelerate progress, and empower individuals to achieve more effortlessly. No doubt, help is good and we all need it! However, most forms of assistance come with a financial or non-financial price, or exchange. In essence, nothing is truly free; everything has its price.

Let us examine the event where USAID and similar aid agencies from European countries provide financial assistance to African nations, but with nation-destroying conditions attached. These conditions often require policy changes that may undermine the sovereignty of the recipient countries, imposing foreign agendas rather than addressing local needs. Ultimately, the aid's primary goal appears to serve the strategic interests of the donors rather than fostering genuine development in Africa. This approach makes dependency perpetual, stifles local initiatives, and perpetuates a cycle where aid becomes a tool for geopolitical influence rather than a means to empower and uplift communities.

Could USAIDS and others from Europe to Africa really be called "help"? This is similar to the help that many individual's get which undermines their privacy, sovereignty, moral values, relationship with God, family values and even more. The best kind of people to help anyone in life are those who are paying it forward to God and waiting for God's reward instead, and yes, God always reward. Whatever is not done for God's sake is not free and be aware also that it is not all for God's sake that are genuine. God is the only free Giver!

Consider carefully what you are giving in return for help, especially how such transactions may impact your future or relationship with God. Avoid compromising your core values for assistance, as once you compromise your principles, to recover becomes difficult and your character may suffer. Remember the divine aspect when pressured to compromise, knowing that God promises to aid those who remain steadfast. "Fear not, for I am your God; I will strengthen you, I will help you."

VACCINES

- 1. Evaluate the Exchange: Before accepting help, consider the implicit terms. Reflect on whether what is being asked in return aligns with your values and principles.
- 2. Resist Compromise: Even in desperate situations, compromising your integrity can have long-term consequences on your character and spiritual well-being.
- 3. Rely on God's Promise: Instead of succumbing to pressure to compromise, lean on the promise of God's help. Isaiah 41:10 reminds us that God offers strength and help without condition.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 26

TOPIC: Build Selfless Core-Values

Bible Reading

Philippians 2:3-4 (NIV)

"Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit. Rather, in humility value others above yourselves, not looking to your own interests but each of you to the interests of the others."

Matthew 22:39 (NIV)

"And the second [commandment] is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'"

BODY:

See the most common core values among humans (written and unwritten, spoken and unspoken)

"as long as this decision, endorsement, signing, speech, action, agreement, election, and as such does not affect 'me' and 'my family or loved ones', let's have it."

This world is often marked by a pursuit of personal gain and self-interest. I encourage you to build selfless core values as a profound act of integrity, compassion, and godliness. I agree that it is not easy to switch immediately, but you can practice it if you at least first make up your mind to build selfless core values. Whether in positions of leadership as a politician, business leader, NGO, or spiritual leader, or in your everyday interactions, the principles we uphold not only define our character but also shape our impact on others. Choosing to accommodate the well-being of others as valuable as your own over selfish ambitions signifies a commitment to honoring God and uplifting human dignity.

Those who betray nations the most are politicians, yet they do not know that they hold a sacred trust to serve their constituents with fairness and justice, just like pastors. Yet, the temptation to prioritize personal gain over public or congregational good can be strong. Upholding unwavering ethical and moral standards and advocating for policies that benefit all demonstrate a dedication to fostering trust and unity within communities. By steadfastly aligning their actions with principles of service and justice, politicians and other leaders can inspire confidence and ensure that the interests of those they represent are never compromised or overlooked.

On a personal level, I encourage you and each individual is expected by God to cultivate selfless values in their interactions with others which is the reason for saying "love your neighbor as yourself. Whether interacting with neighbors, colleagues, or strangers, choosing kindness, empathy, and generosity fosters a culture of mutual respect and solidarity. Rejecting selfish motives ensures our actions align with the teachings of Christ, who exemplified sacrificial love and compassion for all humanity. Embracing selfless values not only enriches personal relationships but also contributes to a broader community ethos rooted in compassion and service.

VACCINES

- 1. Cultivate Humility and Empathy: Approach every interaction with a mindset of humility, valuing the perspectives and needs of others as much as your own.
- 2. Practice Generosity and Service: Look for opportunities to serve others selflessly, whether through acts of kindness, volunteerism, or supporting those in need.
- 3. Guard Against Selfish Ambitions: Be vigilant against the temptation to prioritize personal gain or recognition at the expense of others. Regularly assess your motives and actions, ensuring they align with principles of integrity and respect for others' dignity.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 27

TOPIC: Love within the Family

Bible Reading

Ephesians 5:25 (NIV)

"Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her."

Ephesians 6:4 (NIV)

"Fathers, do not exasperate your children; instead, bring them up in the training and instruction of the Lord.

BODY:

Building enduring love within the family is foundational to raising children who embody love, respect, and integrity. In today's fast-paced world, where schedules often dictate our time, I encourage you to prioritize family bonding moments that foster strong relationships and nurture positive values. Despite busy schedules, creating dedicated family times ensures that children feel valued and cherished, laying the groundwork for their emotional and moral development. Due to nature of job where you cannot be physically present with the children, call them regularly as if you live together and throw plenty sweets to them, but with discipline.

To strengthen marital bonds, I encourage wives to support their husbands through both prosperity and adversity, avoiding hasty decisions like divorce during challenging times or disrespecting him for the current or lingering lack. Conversely, husbands should recognize and empathize with their wives' emotional needs, providing steadfast support and understanding. By filling emotional gaps and maintaining open communication, couples can weather difficulties together, building a foundation of enduring love and mutual respect.

Effective parenting involves collective responsibility and consistent discipline. Parents should work together to monitor and guide their children, ensuring boundaries are set and consequences are fair and discussed beforehand. It's crucial that disagreements between parents are resolved privately, without undermining each other's authority in the presence of the children. By applying principles from the Bible, parents can teach their children Godly virtues that shape their character and behavior for God.

VACCINES

1. Prioritize Family Time: Schedule regular family activities and meals to strengthen bonds and create lasting memories. Engage in meaningful conversations and activities that foster love and unity among family members.

2. Support and Understanding: Wives, support your husbands through challenges, and husbands, acknowledge and respond to the emotional needs of your wives. By standing together and nurturing each other, you build a resilient foundation for enduring love.

3. Parenting as a Team: Collaborate on parenting decisions and discipline strategies. Create a united front to teach and guide your children with love and consistency, ensuring they understand and respect family values rooted in God's teachings.

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 28 - Word of Knowledge

Power and Mastery are not Automatic in any Spiritual Fold

When new witches join any coven, they become initiates and are granted access to universal powers. However, they still need to learn the art with the help of elders and through practice on their own. Sometimes, these newbies visit churches to test their ability to attack pastors by firing arrows. Their eagerness often leads them to show off excessively due to their fresh energy and excitement, resulting in many people being victimized during their practices, even in marketplaces. Impulsively, they volunteer for assignments from their coven, making themselves available to deliver attacks on pastors or anyone who crosses their path.

Many elders selectively receive assignments from the coven, with some even rejecting certain kinds. The newbies who are still exploring, go out confidently to execute the coven's judgments without the fear their elders might feel, until they eventually learn why certain assignments are refused. It's then they understand that their powers have limitations and that there are those who can trim their feathers, pull out their wings and chop off the bird head. What I aim to show you here is the trajectory from their initiation and rapid growth to when they reach their ceiling, their limit.

If you also look into wizardry, which is popularly practiced as occult, charmcraft, magical herbalism, and the likes, practitioners are initiated into specific wizardry occult. Similar to churches with different denominations and names, and witches belonging to different covens, wizard occult also vary.

Joining them does not automatically grant newbies their maximum power or capability. Instead, newbies are granted access to the potential of their powers. It is up to the newbie to learn the art of drawing more power and abilities to themselves, and to maintain this power by avoiding its taboos.

Newbies must continuously explore the depths of their powers within their fold. Commitment to understanding the intricacies of these powers and mastering their use will lead them to learn from elders and on their own. There will be times when they will invoke the spirits associated with their fold to seek answers or powers that elders cannot provide.

With dedication, newbies can grow in their art and mastery to surpass elders and others in their fold. They learn all aspects of their system: how to seal a baby in a pregnant woman for years, how to separate couples through magic, how to perform rituals for wealth, how to engage in spiritual battles, and much more.

There are many spiritual folds. I divided all of them into two spiritual families in my book, one for God and the other belongs to Satan. The only way to become part of the spiritual family of God is Jesus. Under the family of God in Jesus Christ, there are tribes which are the church denominations. And every occult, coven and religion not rooted in Jesus Christ, under Heaven are the tribes under the family of Satan.

A lion cannot give birth to chicken, so how can God of all powers be the Father of weaklings? How can an adult christian cry when a young child with familiar spirit torment his dream? How shameful?! I am tired of chopping off bird heads, if one witch can close down a church, I really desire to burn down an entire coven if they confront me. There is a reason why demons run away from Jesus. Some demons in the Bible say "Jesus we know, Paul we know", who are you powerless Christians?

Sadly, many people in the fold of God are the ones who don't learn the art and mastery of the power of God. See how the other family are passionate about their growth in the knowledge and power of Satan? But for the so-called followers of Jesus? Some foolishly thinks once they are baptized, they automatically have the fullness of the power of God. No dear! You have to learn and grow through the discipline of the word of God and solid prayer life.

2 Peter 3:18; Ephesians 4:13; Ephesians 6:10

DAY 29

TOPIC: The Purpose of Marriage is Beyond Wealth

Bible Reading

Genesis 2:24 (NIV).

"That is why a man leaves his father and mother and is united to his wife, and they become one flesh."

Proverbs 19:1: (NIV)

"Better is a poor person who walks in his/her integrity than one who is crooked in speech and is a fool."

BODY:

For singles and parents who are still raising singles, marriage is often seen through various lenses but the trending reality in this age where financial buoyancy is the first and most important yardstick to choose spouse is not Godly. While financial generation and security can be a consideration and may be discussed during their courtship, the primary purpose of marriage transcends monetary factors. According to the Bible, marriage is a sacred union intended to unite two individuals as one and to create a foundation for love, companionship, and the nurturing of future generations.

God's design for marriage is rooted in love and commitment. Genesis 2:24 teaches that marriage signifies leaving one's family to form a new unity with a spouse, emphasizing a deep bond that goes beyond material wealth. The Apostle Paul further elaborates in 1 Corinthians 13 on the characteristics of love, highlighting qualities such as patience, kindness, and selflessness—attributes that are essential for a strong and enduring marital relationship.

When considering a life partner, it is vital to prioritize qualities that align with God's principles rather than material wealth. I understand that poverty is rampant and many people who grew up in poverty and have not fully recovered from it are afraid of this demon, but then, while financial stability can provide security, it should not overshadow qualities such as character, the spiritual alignment of your spouse-to-be, and your behavioral compatibility. Choosing a spouse based solely on financial status can lead to shallow relationships devoid of true emotional and spiritual connection. This will increase divorce rate in our communities and bring forth more societal troubles called children of broken homes. The society is only lucky with quite few children from broken homes who are not toxic.

VACCINES

- 1. Spiritual Alignment: Choose a spouse who shares your faith and values, ensuring a foundation rooted in God's Word and mutual respect for His teachings.
- 2. Emotional Connection: Prioritize emotional compatibility and genuine affection over financial considerations, fostering a deep and meaningful bond built on love and understanding.
- 3. Long-Term Commitment: Seek a partner committed to the vows of marriage, who values fidelity, loyalty, and partnership in building a life together based on God's principles.

DAY 30

TOPIC: Get-Rich-Quick Schemes; Avoid the Sharp-Sharp Monies

Bible Reading

Proverbs 13:11 (NIV)

"Dishonest money dwindles away, but whoever gathers money little by little makes it grow."

Proverbs 28:20

"A faithful (diligent) person will be richly blessed, but one eager to get rich quick will not escape the consequence."

BODY:

A get-rich-quick scheme promises rapid wealth with minimal effort, often enticing individuals with promises of high returns in a short period. These schemes typically involve investments in dubious ventures, pyramid schemes, or unrealistic business propositions. They prey on the desire for quick financial gain without the necessary hard work, patience, and ethical foundations required for sustainable wealth.

For example, pyramid schemes lure participants by promising exponential returns for recruiting others into the scheme, rather than through legitimate business activities or investments. Also, embezzlement, blood money, scamming, wrong scale and betting of different coloration is part of the family of get-rich-quick scheme. Similarly, for the unsuspecting, speculative investments like FOREX or cryptocurrencies, whereby you are not an expert in these markets, but that questionable agents are promising guaranteed high returns with little risk often lead to financial losses rather than gains.

Engaging in get-rich-quick schemes can have severe negative impacts. Financial losses are common as many schemes collapse under their own unsustainable structures, leaving participants with depleted savings and shattered dreams. Moreover, if you dare involve in fraudulent schemes, it can tarnish your reputations and lead to legal consequences, damaging personal and professional relationships.

Instead of falling for get-rich-quick schemes, I encourage everyone should focus on building wealth through sustainable and moral means. Believing in oneself involves cultivating skills, acquiring knowledge in business or a trade, and fostering a healthy network of relationships. By combining entrepreneurship with a solid skill set, individuals can create value, build a reputable business, and achieve long-term financial success.

VACCINES

1. Research and Due Diligence: Investigate the claims made by the scheme thoroughly, and the companies or individuals behind it. Look for concrete evidence of success, testimonials, and reviews from credible sources, and not the fake testimonials promoted by their network. You can seek professional advice from financial experts and lawyers before you invest your money.

2. Build Your Own Wealth: Focus on mastering valuable skills and business acumen to build wealth sustainably. Invest in continuous learning, healthy network-building and combine expertise with sound business strategies to innovate and build your dream wealth instead of seeking get-rich-quick schemes.

3. Resist the Temptation to Scam People: Choose integrity and ethical principles over deception and exploitation in your pursuit of wealth. Genuine success is built on trust, transparency, and creating lasting value for others. Build a legacy that inspires future generations through honest entrepreneurship and respect for the well-being of others. It is a satanic temptation!

Resistance by Vaccines Vol.1

DAY 31

TOPIC: Who Says You can Love Your Haters?!

Bible Reading

Matthew 5:44-45 (NIV): "But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be children of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous."

Ephesians 4:31-32 (NIV): "Get rid of all bitterness, rage and anger, brawling and slander, along with every form of malice. Be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving each other, just as in Christ God forgave you."

BODY:

How possible or easy is it to love those who hate us? Is it even achievable? Especially when we witness their hatred on display through their actions and expressions towards us? I understand that it can be challenging to demonstrate love towards those who harbor animosity towards us, but I encourage you today to exhibit spiritual maturity in dealing with them. Of course, it's important to maintain caution and protect your personal boundaries; you need not grant them access to your private or sacred space. However, do not allow their hatred to poison your heart. Remember, you are no different from them if you reciprocate their hatred. You may not hug them, but greet them genuinely if they are greet-able, because some are not willing to respond to greetings.

Yet, if we adhere to Jesus' teaching to love our enemies, what does love truly entail? I'm reminded of a well-known verse from the Bible: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son." I perceive an active demonstration in this verse; immediately after describing God's profound love ("so" loved), follows the action of giving. Therefore, if I am to love my neighbor, family, or even my enemy, I must be prepared to give to them under specific circumstances: when they are in need, when they ask for help, and when I am capable without jeopardizing my own future needs.

Jesus also conveyed that we should emulate our Heavenly Father, who provides rain for both the righteous and the wicked alike. Therefore, I choose to give to both my friends and enemies as an expression of love, despite any animosity they may harbor towards me. My primary understanding of love begins with giving or sharing, followed closely by the compassion that naturally flows from such actions.

You don't have to go to great lengths to assist them because there are different levels of expressing love. The simplest form is giving from your surplus to those in need.

The next level is sharing what is just enough for yourself with those who require assistance. The highest form of love is sacrificing what you need for yourself to help someone in need. Of course, you won't give to a stranger in the same way you would give to your own child. Nevertheless, always strive to be kind to your enemies. When they are in need and ask for help, consider assisting them or giving to them according to your means and their genuine necessity. This approach not only reflects the teachings of love but also preserves your integrity and peace of mind.

VACCINES

1. Practice Forgiveness: Start by forgiving your enemies. Forgiveness does not mean condoning idiocy or wickedness, it does not also mean excusing the hurtful actions but it means more about releasing the anger and resentment in you. Forgiveness is a choice that benefits the forgiver more than the forgiven, as it frees you from the burden of carrying hatred. Hatred is heavy, it spreads and can make anyone become toxic.

2. Focus on Spiritual Growth: I encourage you to reflect on who built-up any bitterness in you and makes you look generally toxic to the larger community; it is time to let their negative feelings go. Holding onto hatred only hinders your spiritual and emotional growth. And it sure blocks prayers to God as devils use this as heavy iron doors to shut prayers.

3. Embrace Love and Compassion: I encourage you to replace hatred with love and compassion. Remember Jesus' teachings to love our enemies and do good to those who persecute us. I encourage you towards acts of kindness to everyone regardless, including your perceived enemies, as a way to transform negative emotions into positive actions.

The long term goals of this daily devotional have yet to be initiated. I urge you to continue using it to prepare yourself with information about what lies ahead. Satanism and Anti-Christ are gathering significant support from government, covert societies, media, NGOs, and many mainstream sectors, so it's crucial to be vaccinated with the truths of the Holy Scriptures so that you can stand stronger chance to RESIST, for the sake of your eternal dwelling place.

~Pastor Dickson Olabiyi Adelusì

download the next one for FREE from www.dicksonadelusi.com

Volume 1

31-DAYS DAILY DEVOTIONAL

Resistance
by Vaccines

PASTOR D. O. ADELUSI